

An Egyptologist taught our Grade 2 class about Egyptian dynasties.

bi Egypt ge	o	log "word, account, reason"	ic	al	ly ist y

Gr. log(os) "word, account, reason"

Word Sums

Egypt + o + log + ist → Egyptologist dyne/ + ast + y/i + es → dynasties

Question:

Is there evidence for an <-ast> suffix used in the matrix for <dynasty> and <dynastic>?

mone/ + ast + ary → monastery gymn + ast + ic → gymnastic sarc + ast + ic → sarcastic

See a rich Real Spelling video on the analysis of the orthography of <dynamic> HERE.

See some more on the orthography of <log> HERE.

dyne "power, force, strength"	ast	ic
		y	es
	s

dynam "power, force, strength"	ic	al	ly s
	ism	ite

Gr. dynam(is) "power, force, strength"